CLASS

We, the Class of 1942, in eighty-four individual and distinct parts, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory, and almost superhuman understanding, do make and publish this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or may have, carelessly spoken, one to the other, as the thoughtless wish of an idle hour.

I, Charles Vickers, leave my colleague, Bradley Sayle, the full responsibility of next year's cheerleading.

We, Podge Parker and Charles Brawner, leave our ability to get along with blondes to Bernard Carter; he already seems to have made a good beginning.

I, Roger Whitton, will my nimble fingers to Berenice Lewis.

We, Eloise Simpson, Era Faye Lykins, and Lou Avah Pevlor, leave our variety of hair colors to Pete Dooley. He has already tried every shade going.

We, Jim Bob Coburn and Billy Kuykendall, leave our universal popularity to James Atterberry.

We, Geraldine York, Marie Sorg, and Lena Roach, leave our jolly good natures, studious habits, and all good traits to the eighth grade—who should start their training early.

We, Jean Morrison and Dudley Triplett, leave our continuous arguing to next year's nearest married couple.

We, Jack Reed and Dickie Jagers, bequeath our big words to Kelly Berger, because it's getting "too deep" to carry them on with us.

I, Dubby Lancaster, leave everything to my brother, Donald, because things like that should be kept in the family.

We, Anita Bramlet, Gobelene Harrod, Alice Jackson, Allen Long, Donald White, and Haskell Durman, leave our hidden talents to John Browning and Lyle Irvine, because we think they have energy enough to look for them.

We, Barney Stanley and Johnny Hudson, leave our knack of swinging an election to the "Back Room Boys'" choice to Tommy Harris and Buddy Muntz.

I, Henry Penn, leave my one and only false tooth to Wallace Estill; he might need it next year.

We, Jean True, Henrietta Vigusin, Pauline Sullivan, and Jane Ann McQueen, leave Frankfort High to look for better "Hunting Grounds."

I, Johnny Allen, being the laziest boy, leave some of my lacking energy to Elizabeth Bayless.

To Dorothy Sorg, we, Cecil Webster, Hazel Arnold, and Betty Brannon, leave our musical gifts. "Music hath charm to sooth the savage beast."

WILL

I, Kenneth Goin, leave my ability to make something out of nothing to "Coo" Hogan.

We, Gus Coleman and Charles Roberts, leave our draft numbers to John Adamson and Allen Owen; it will take the army to get them out of high school.

We, Charles Figg, Dorothy Jones, Ben Johnson, Calvin Clark, and Ruby Stafford, leave nothing, because we're taking the bankrupt law.

I, Christine J. Pulliam, leave my straight "A's" to R. C. Parrent; then he can take his report card home.

We, Dottie Lou Moore and Tommy Jones, leave our ability to "bluff" to anyone who needs it. Apply early and avoid the rush.

I, Geno Benassi, will my ability to get all football plays backwards to J. T. Gordon.

We, Sarah C. Scott and Paul Whisman, leave our "gulps" and "blushes" to Irvine Gershman and Ann Jillson. They need something to calm them down.

I, Anne Caplinger, leave Benny Moore to run to school by himself. I'm all worn out.

We, Bobby Brooks, Joe Flynn, and Billy Todd Cheshire, having broken all skipping and tardy records now existing, leave our pride in this accomplishment to any class aspiring to this doubtful honor.

I, Alice South, leave my ability to look intellectual to Eleanor Vaughn.

We, Nancy O'Rear, Alma Riddle, Mary Milam Stagg, Jane Salyer, and Betty Ann Wilhoite, leave our "hooks" and "looks" to the Junior "wallflowers."

We, Bobby Rogers and Bobby Cleland, take our love for freshmen with us—it's out of place in this school.

We, Harry Chestnut, Walter Mitchell, Herbert Finzel, David Collins, and Jack Kennedy, leave our ability to be "brutes" on the football field and "Romeos" off, to next year's team.

I, Libby Hulette, leave my ability to "soft-soap" the speech teachers to George Hall.

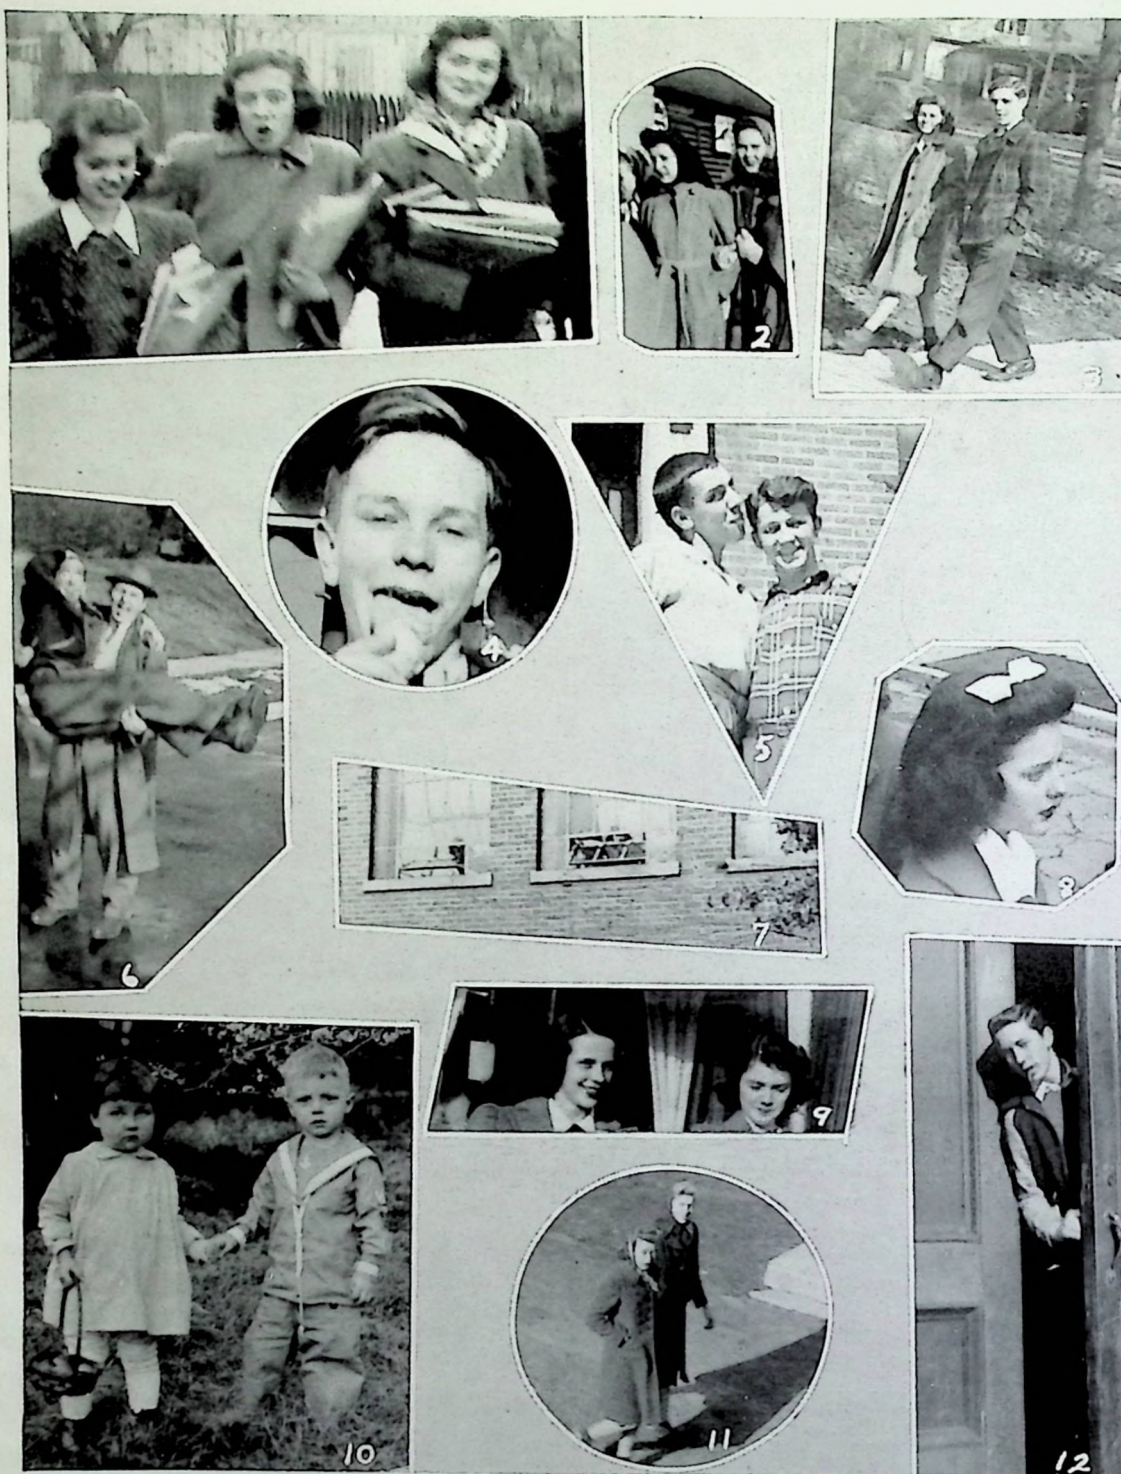

We, Betty Jane Brooker, Jean Doris Jones, Puddy Henry, and Sadie Major Saffell, will our "iron glue" to Betty Brooke Fulton and Ann Jillson, so they can make their men stick.

We, Dorothy Wells, Christine F. Pulliam, Ann Doris Harrod, Kathleen Oliver, and Edna Mae Long, will heavenly peace and quiet to any place it's needed.

We, Ernest Smith and George Catlett, leave our ability to make the loudest explosions in chemistry to anybody who can stand the racket.

We, Pauline Riddell, Roy Snow, Eugene Gill, Velma Nesselrode, and Jo Ann Keesee, leave our eraser stubs to National defense to be made into auto tires.

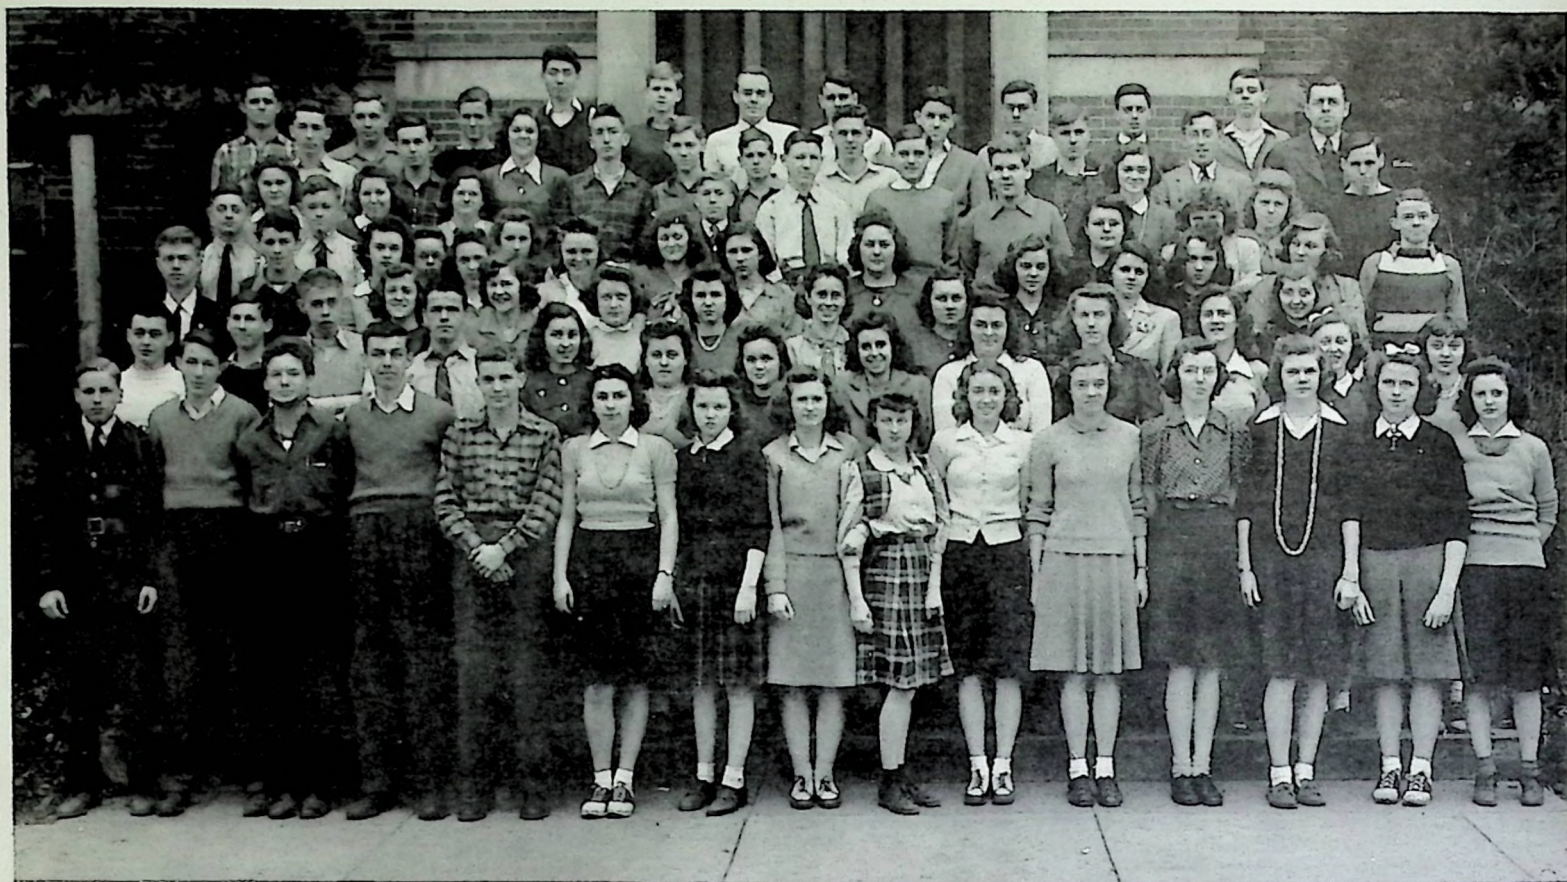

In witness whereof, we, the Class of 1942, the testators, have to this our will, set our hands and seal this fourth day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two.

1. Faith, Hope, and Charity; 2. School's out; 3. Does he rate? 4. Slurp! 5. Favorite Pastime; 6. The days of chivalry are not dead; 7. We're generally known as inmates; 8. "Madam T. T."; 9. Beautiful but dumb? 10. You are starting out early (Gretter and Irvine); 11. Underclassmen. 12. Skipper.

The Library Club is made up of members who are interested in reading both for knowledge and pleasure. The purpose of the club is to train for efficient library service and to promote library activities.

Each year those who wish to become members of the club submit their names for membership. If they are considered an asset they are elected to membership in the club.

During the year the club sponsors a tea and invites the student body, parents and friends of the school. At this time, displays from the various classes, clubs and departments as well as individual displays are exhibited.

We, the Senior Girl Reserves, began our year with a retreat at Admiral Taylor's camp on the Kentucky River. We stayed a day and night, and while we were there, planned our program for the coming year.

Next came our annual Cookie Day, which our club holds every year, with part of the proceeds going to the Kentucky-Tennessee District Y. W. C. A.

Our annual football banquet, given in honor of the squad, was held at the Episcopal Parish House, Thursday, November 13. Our speaker was Brad Jones of Manual High School, Louisville, who was one of Frankfort's first coaches. The members of his team, which came so close to winning the state championship in 1922, were guests of the club.

In November we "adopted" a baby girl for whom we agreed to furnish codliver oil. At Christmas we fixed several boxes of food and toys for the baby and her family.

A group of us went to Berea to the State Conference. Since there were a great many who did not get to go to Berea, we decided to have a Conference of our own. On Monday, March 23, all three of our Girl Reserve Clubs met in the F. H. S. auditorium where we sang songs and had a program. After the program we went to the gym for games and refreshments. We also followed this plan when we entertained the Versailles Club on April 6. During the year we served as hosts to all the Girl Reserves of Central Kentucky for a sing which was conducted by Miss Lucille Robinson of the National Y. W. C. A. Music Staff.

Concluding events of a very successful year were a joint meeting with the Hi-Y and an entertainment for our mothers.

Since this is the first year Frankfort High has had Spanish, our Spanish club has had to plan its organization first of all. We meet every two weeks during class period and combine the business meeting with a program. There are twenty-seven members in the club now.

Perhaps the most outstanding thing the club has done this year was to present a Pan American Day program in assembly. This performance was climaxed by a bull fight which we enjoyed if no one else did.

The club also sponsored an exhibit of Mexican curios and typical Spanish scenes for the library club tea. Programs enjoyed were: travel talks about Mexico, quiz programs and picture shows.

SENATUS POPULUSQUE ROMANUS

Senators, Roman People, and Slaves comprise the Latin Club. This Roman State with its consuls and quaestor, as in Old Rome, really is four clubs in one, for each class has minor officers and activities of its own. All class distinction are forgotten in socials and the annual initiation of slaves.

Programs and projects are a part of the club's work. One group has completed a small model, $2\frac{1}{2}' \times 3'$, of the Greek and Roman Hades; another has constructed a model, $8' \times 3'$, of the famous Circus Maximums. These are supplemented by various individual projects. Late last spring Caesar's Funeral was elaborately portrayed as an evening performance by the entire membership of the S. P. Q. R.

Queer sights met the eyes of visitors to F. H. S. on a certain day in October when they encountered a whirlpool of humanity. If they survived, they told strange tales of students wearing dumb expressions on faces protruding from lamp shades, poised on their heads. Their expressions revealed clearly the necessity of burning mid-night oil in order to become a Classicist. These cowering slaves were sold on the slave block the same day to the highest bidder, whose every command they obeyed. This was Slave Day!

Ruled over by Consuls M. Bixler and J. Browning and Quaestor B. Fulton, the Roman State has carried on its work through another successful year.

CONSULS: Marguerite Bixler, John Browning.

QUAESTOR: Betty Brooke Fulton.

PONTIFEX MAXIMUS: Miss Elizabeth Smith.

The school year 1941-42 was a big year for the High School Band. The band, under the able leadership of Mr. George Blanton, played for all the home football games, also for the Frankfort-Paris game at Paris. This season was highlighted by playing at the annual East-West football game at Stoll Field in Lexington. There the band, together with some twenty other bands from throughout the state, formed a huge mass band and played the national anthem before the large throng of spectators who came to witness the event.

Other events in which the band participated included home guard drills; chapel programs; parades, including the Armistice day parade, and a performance at the Capitol Theatre for a pep rally sponsored by the townspeople.

Through wind, rain, sleet and snow, the Frankfort High School Panthers fought to uphold the tradition of our school by playing the brand of football that represents good sportsmanship, precision, teamwork, and a keen spirit of competition. They absorbed their victories and withstood their defeats. Frankfort High School is proud of their gallant efforts in carrying on the good name for which it has always stood.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

J. T. was a very fast back who used his speed to advantage in attaining high point honors.

BROOKS was the most aggressive and elusive end since the days of Portwood, and his ability to snag passes saved many games for the "Panthers."

DUD was one of the biggest and toughest boys on the team and notably held down the other tackle position.

DAVE was the fastest lineman on the team and many times saved the game by scurrying from his guard position to grab an opponent who was touchdown bound.

PODGE was held back by frequent injuries throughout most of his football career but this year made up for lost time by playing an iron-man game at center.

SNOOKIE was a hard charging and dependable guard who was always in on a tackle and will be stopping them again next year.

HERBIE was shifted to tackle this year and made his last season's play stand out more than ever.

CHARLIE has been a regular end for three years and made each year better than the last with his determined efforts.

TOT, though not very big, for four years gave his all for F. H. S. in punting or returning kicks, running reverses or throwing passes. Captain Harry will be greatly missed next year.

MITCH was another transfer from G. H. S. and was the biggest, toughest and most dependable piece of machinery to explode through a line since the last World War.

GENO, though hampered by several injuries, was another fast and elusive back who could be counted on when a quick gain was needed.

A. B., though he was an understudy because of his weight, was always ready and able to take up the fight where anyone left off and threw the pigskin over the line for frequent gains.

DONALD, the lankier of the Lancasters, is carrying on at an end position and is expected to do great things in '42.

WIGMY, while lacking experience, proved that he could dish it out as well as take it.

CARTER played his second season of football for F. H. S. after being transferred from G. H. S., and did fine work on both defense and offense.

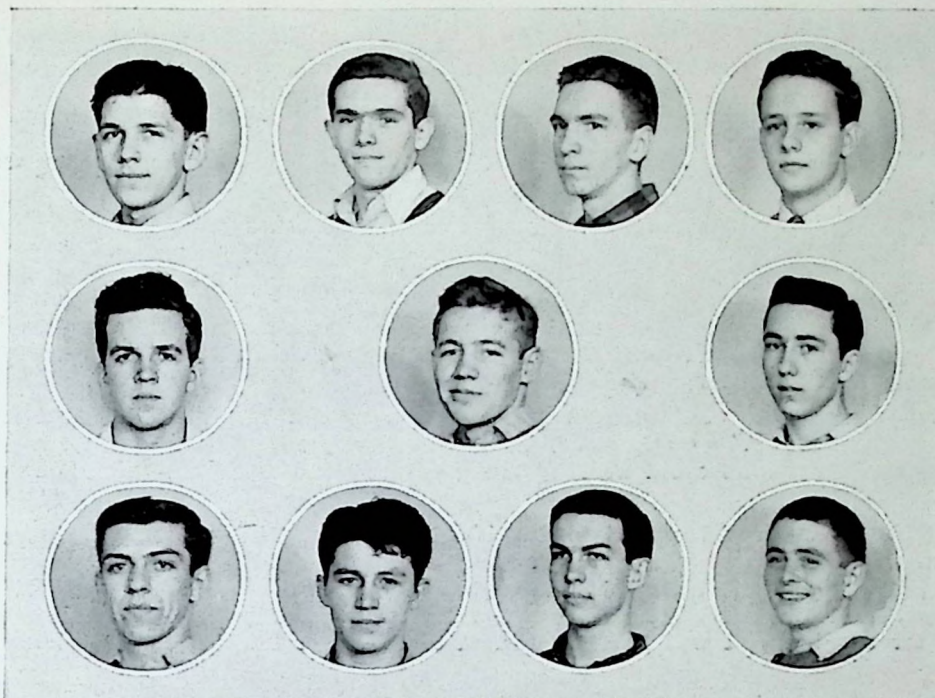

DUBBY was a great little signal caller and blocker who always kept plugging.

BURR-HEAD was always the first man across the line to stop a thrust at his position, and is among the few returning lettermen.

JACK was often known as the red streak or the Thornhill flash, and through his gallant efforts in the line, became the first boy from that section to earn the coveted "F".

JOE was for three years a dependable manager and kept up the spirit by being the life of the locker room.

EM was the backbone of the backfield until he suffered a broken arm and leg in an auto accident. His loss by the team was never replaced, but he has been elected captain for the coming year.

FIRST ROW: Bobby Rogers, Roy Snow, Kenneth Roberts, Robt. Cleland.
 SECOND ROW: Dudley Triplett, Podge Parker, Captain; Donald Lancaster.
 THIRD ROW: Robert Carter, Lawrence Rice, Mickey Chandler, Joe Flynn.

BASKETBALL LETTERMEN

"T" was a consistent player who could pitch one in when it was needed most, and he knew how to settle the team down when the game was under way.

SNOW was a cautious player and showed fine cooperation when he was called upon to display his spirit of teamwork.

MONK was known for his elusiveness and accuracy at the art of faking and shooting, and never missed a chance to loop one in from any angle.

CLELAND played his first year with the varsity and made it noteworthy by his exhibition of deadly one-handers with either paw.

DUD played his last year for F. H. S. and his competitive spirit and all-round good play will be missed next year.

PODGE has been a mainstay on the team for three years and well deserved the captainship honor this season. Being the tallest man on the team he excelled in rebounding and pivot shots.

DON was a very good ball handler and an expert shot, who will be counted on to come through next year with even better play.

CARTER played hard all the time and never gave up, always showing the courage needed to win and lose, retaining the same attitude toward each.

LAWRENCE was a deceptive player, who, when allowed an even chance to score a basket, would never fail to take the try.

MICKEY was transferred from G. H. S. last year but played his first year for F. H. S. in '42. He helped the team very much by turning in a fine floor game on every occasion as well as leading the scoring in many games.

JOE tossed the towel and lugged the jug through four reasons in this sport and created enumerable riots on the monotonous road trips.

The team this year was composed of ten hard fighting and dependable Panthers who possessed the necessary qualities to come through when the odds were against them and the tension was high. The boys proved their caliber by showing their colors when the pressure was on in many games this season. F. H. S. is indeed proud of this spirit.

CLASS

New York, June, 1952.

Miss Dorothy Jones
"Ye Lonely Hearts" Bureau
Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Dear Dot:

Can you realize that it has been ten years since you have been in the United States? So many things have happened that I feel I must write you about some of them. Many members of the class of '42 are certainly making history.

Last week the newspapers of the nation flashed this headline: "Eminent Scientist Makes Greatest Discovery of His Career." Curiously I read on: "Professor Ernest Smith Invents 'Thinkoscope.'" This strange machine could actually bring before your eyes anything or anyone you thought about.

Excitedly I hailed a cab and rushed to Smith's laboratory. The place was completely surrounded by a mass of newspaper reporters. A familiar face poked its way through the crowd of cameras—Dottie Lou Moore, of all people! She explained that she was a star reporter for "The New York Times," and that she had come to interview Professor Smith. After being pushed and shoved around for two hours, I was finally admitted to Professor Smith's office by none other than Ruby Stafford.

When I entered, a beaming-faced gentleman bade me be seated. Despite the disguise, my host was recognizable. It was only Ernest Smith. After a short conversation, I made it clear I wished to make use of his "Thinkoscope." He informed me that it had one slight flaw—the cussed thing refused to work unless you dropped a coin in it every few minutes. I had a slight suspicion that this "flaw" was intentional after I learned that his associates were Ben Johnson and Jack Reed.

Then I was introduced to the "Thinkoscope." You had to stand on a small platform with something on your head and try to think. As you pondered, the object of your thought appeared before you on a small screen. I dropped a coin in the slot and thought. Suddenly much applause greeted my ears. On the screen before me was a theater. On the stage stood a tall, thin, young man, who was wowing the people by calmly removing his tooth, and then reinserting same. I had unconsciously been thinking of Henry Penn. On the same program, Dick Jagers and his "Sweet Swing Swashbucklers," featuring Pete Dooley at the trombone, were really laying them in the aisles.

The theater faded away, and in its place appeared a meeting of the Frankfort Ladies' Club. After the meeting was called to order by chairmann, Alma Riddle, the minutes of the last meeting were read by Sadie Saf—beg your pardon, Mrs. Tom Whitaker. Then the speaker was introduced. My eyes bulges as the world-renowned detective, missionary, and aviatrix, Miss Jean True, was announced. I never knew what she had to say, for at that moment an oddly familiar voice said, "Another coin due now, please." Puzzled, I inserted the requested coin.

The scene shifted to Washington, D. C. There two brilliant young Senators from Kentucky were engaged in a debate on "inflation." I listened eagerly, first to the voice of General George Catlett, and then to that of Senator Libby Hulette. The debate was just going strong, when Miss Hulette snapped her fingers, cleared her throat, and dashed off to Broadway to appear in "Mary of Scotland."

Naturally, the thought of acting turned my thoughts to Hollywood, where Alice South has just launched a brand new career. She has made Orson Welles seem a mere infant. Alice not only writes, produces, directs, photographs, and stars in her own pictures, but also hops about the continent like mad, handling the projectors in the cinema houses.

Then came to my ears the rhapsodic music of a violin. I shuddered as a sour note emitted from the machine. "Jack Benny," I thought. However, on looking, I found myself gazing at Billy Kuykendall. He should have stuck to first aid.

The next scene didn't surprise me much, as I had already read an account of it in the papers. Charles Vickers, our favorite cheerleader, had been decorated with a medal of honor for a miraculous feat. It seems Charlie joined the parachute troops and was one of the boys dropped on Tokio. That ended the war, remember? He sank the Japanese Islands.

Speaking of cheer-leading reminded me of sports. Our boys at F. H. S. didn't do so badly for themselves. Remember Tot Chestnut and Walter Mitchell? They're big stars for the Chicago Bears now, and Joe Flynn—ah, me—Joe's now batboy for the New York Yankees.

At this point that voice again reminded me to insert a coin. Wishing to learn more about my classmates of '42, I did so.

The roar of an airplane motor hummed in my ear, and gazing closer, I perceived an airliner piloted by war ace, Captain Robert Cleland. In the passenger compartment I noticed six young ladies engaged in deep conversation. Yes, they were Jane Salyer, Fay Lykins, Hazel Arnold, Nancy O'Rear, Anne D. Harrod, and Dorothy Wells. It seems each one had received a card from Ann Caplinger, who was vacationing in Alaska. On each card was that well known inscription: "Having swell time—wish you were here." The girls, not wishing to disappoint their pal, had taken the next plane for Alaska.

On the same plane were Mary Milam Stagg, Betty Ann Wilhoite, Marie Sorg, and Edna Mae Long, the four best-looking women in America. They were going to Alaska to live because they had all been jilted by Herbert Fincel, Hollywood's favorite matinee idol, and Jack Kennedy, socialite and playboy. Another thing that irked the girls was the fact that they lost the title of "Miss Grape-juice of 1951" to Lou Avah Pevlor, the gorgeous blonde. Our old friends, Charles Brawner, Gus Coleman, Roy Snow, and David Collins have fled to Africa—they were the judges.

Next appeared Jane Ann McQueen, the girl who won the D. A. R. medal. Well, she's president of the whole business now. She is ably assisted in her duties by Goebelene Harrod. I heard that your membership was rejected, Dorothy, because you have been married five times, and that isn't the type of revolution they represent.

After Jane Ann and Goebelene had trickled into nothingness, I beheld the state reception room of the Capitol at Frankfort. Governor John Hudson, and Lieutenant Governor, Johnny Allen, were holding a reception. My, but these two boys did well for themselves. A sudden fan-fare burst from the orchestra, and the spotlight was turned on two charming young ladies—Cecil Webster and Betty Brannon. They were singing with the orchestra. Roger Whitton, at the piano, was really burning up the keyboard.

I was enjoying this immensely, when that ominous voice again interrupted. I was quite hungry by this time, so I abandoned the "Thinkoscope" and went in search of refreshments.

Down the street about two blocks, I found a most delightful little restaurant. A sign informed me that it was the "CRWW." On entering I was greeted by Joan Keesee, Alice Jackson, and Pauline Riddle, who told me that this was one of a chain of restaurants owned by Calvin Clark, Charles Roberts, Donald White, and Paul Whisman. Pauline is the cashier and Bill Cheshire the general manager of this particular branch.

I sat down at a table and glanced at the menu. The special for the day was Macaroni A' La Benassi. The waiter, Kenneth Roberts, explained that Geno Benassi, the Macaroni King, had concocted the most delicious dish of macaroni ever made. I ordered a "Benassi Special," and was half-way through my luncheon when someone greeted me. I gazed into the face of Tommy Jones, nurse, now employed at the Mayo Brothers' Clinic. Tommy had been in Frankfort the week before on a visit. While there she went to the Grand Theater to see Apollo Brooks in "The Killer Diller Kid." Guess who's the new manager of the Grand—Jim Bob Coburn.

I tried to tell Tommy something about the "Thinkoscope," but I didn't have a chance. Tommy rattled on. "What do you think about Dudley Triplett? He's touring the country with the Metropolitan Opera and causing all the girls to swoon. Too bad he's already married to Jean Morrison; but his press agent, that handsome A. B. Long, won't let the public know it. I suppose you heard about the big rumpus back at old F. H. S. The parents of some of the younger children are kicking because Principal Henrietta Vigusin appointed James Hoge as truant officer. The main objecters are Mrs. Russell Holland, Mrs. Rogers Parker, and Mrs. J. W. Lancaster. Of course you remember Betty Brooker, Jean Doris Jones, and Geraldine Henry? Mrs. Mary Ellen Nord thinks it's a fine thing. Little Jackie doesn't like to go to school anyhow!

"Say, did you hear about President Bobby Rogers' new car? He had it built special for his secretaries. He has close to a million. Listen—Lena Roach, Sarah Scott, Anita Bramlet, Geraldine York, Christine F. Pulliam, Elois Simpson, Velma Nesselrode, and the world's champion typist, Pauline Sullivan are some of them."

Tommy gasped for breath and went on, "Haskel Durman and Eugene Gill are engaged in a fued to see which one can out-dress the other. So far Gill's in the lead with a pair of new heelless, toeless, strapless and soleless evening slippers. They do all their designing in a twenty-story hut on Main Street. The building was dreamed up by Kenneth Goin, contractor deluxe. Well, I gotta be going—so long."

Tommy rushed out and I had to pay the check. Money again made me think of the voice in the "Thinkoscope." At that moment it suddenly dawned on me. Who was it who always said, "Capitolian dollar due now?" Barney Stanley, of course!

Well, I'll close now, wishing you luck.

Happy Days Are Here Again

Have you ever noticed how Farmer-Hudson clothes are associated with happy days? They have clothes for graduation, for dances, for outdoors, for swimming, for vacation trips—for better fun and better looks, day in, and day out. Why they even contribute to the happiness of the boys by making the girls better looking in their eyes—if that is possible. They know that the girls who are dressed by Farmer-Hudson are well dressed—just as their mothers who are dressed by Farmer-Hudson are well dressed.
